T U E S D A Y, AUGUST 1, 1769.

From the LONDON GAZETTE.

WESTMINSTER, MAY 9.

THIS day his Majesty came to the House of Peers, and the Commons being sent for, and come thither, his Majesty was pleased to make the following most gracious SPEECH.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

HAVING thought it necessary to give so early a commencement to the present session of parliament, I am glad to find, that by your zeal and assiduity in the dispatch of the public business, I am now enabled to relieve you from your attendance, before the session of the year is too far advanced.

I cannot put an end to the session, without expressing my entire approbation of your conduct, and thanking you for that clear demonstration, which your proceedings through the whole course of the session, have afforded to all the world, of the affectionate attachment of my parliament to my person and government, as well as of their steady adherence to the true interest of their country.

It was with much satisfaction that I observed your particular attention to those great national objects, which, at the opening of the session, I recommended to your more immediate consideration. The result of your deliberations, respecting the late acquisitions in the East-Indies, has shewn, that you were not more attentive to the immediate benefit arising therefrom in point of revenue, than to the securing, at all events, the permanent commercial interests of this country, and guarding against every possible discouragement to our own manufactures, and to the industry of my subjects. What more remains to be done, for securing the possession of those valuable acquisitions, you will, I doubt not, proceed to provide for, with all convenient dispatch, at your next meeting.

The measures which I had taken, regarding the late unhappy disturbances in North-America, have been already laid before you. They have received your approbation; and you have assured me of your firm support in the prosecution of them. Nothing, in my opinion, could be more likely to enable the well-disposed among my subjects, in that part of the world, effectually to discourage and defeat the designs of the factious and seditious, than the hearty concurrence of every branch of the legislature in the resolution of maintaining the execution of the laws in every part of my dominions. And there is nothing I more ardently wish for, than to see it produce that good effect.

With respect to foreign affairs, my own determination, as well as the assurances given me by the other powers of Europe, continue the same as I communicated to you at the beginning of this session: And, however unsuccessful my attempts have proved for preventing the unfortunate rupture which has happened between Russia and the Porte, I shall not fail to use my good offices towards restoring peace between those powers; and I trust, that the calamities of war will not extend to any other part of Europe.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

My particular thanks are due to you, as well for the supplies which you have granted me for the services of the current year, as for the provision which you have made for enabling me to discharge the debt incurred upon account of my Civil Government. Your readiness in relieving me from the difficulties increasing upon me from the continuance of that debt, I shall ever consider as an additional motive for me to endeavour to confine the expences of my Civil Government within such bounds, as the honour of my Crown can possibly admit.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

It gives me great concern to be obliged to recommend to you, with more than ordinary earnestness, that you would all in your several counties, exert your utmost efforts for the maintenance of public peace, and of good order among my people. You must be sensible that whatever obstructs, in any degree, the regular execution of the Laws, or weakens the authority of the Magistrate, must lessen the only security which my people can have for the undisturbed enjoyment of their rights and liberties. From your endeavours in this common cause, I promise myself the most salutary effect: On my part, no countenance or support shall be wanting; for as I have ever made, and ever shall make, our excellent Constitution the rule of my own conduct, so shall I always consider it as equally my duty to exert every power, with which that Constitution has entrusted me, for preserving it safe from violation of every kind; being fully convinced, that in so doing I shall most effectually provide for the true interest and happiness of my people.

Then the Lord Chancellor, by his Majesty's command, said;

My Lords and Gentlemen,

It is his Majesty's royal will and pleasure, that this Parliament be prorogued to Wednesday the 14th of June next, to be then held; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Wednesday the 14th of June next.

L O N D O N, MAY 4.

BY some advices received on Monday from Holland, we are informed, that the King of Prussia has made a demand of that part of East Friesland, now in the possession of the Dutch. By some late accounts from Governor O'Hara, the news is confirmed, that a factory, which the French had established five or six hundred miles up the country, and which, by their pompous accounts of it, was soon to have been into a situation of engrossing all the inland trade of that extensive region, is now totally demolished, Governor O'Hara having sent, some time ago, Captain MacMillan, with a large detachment, up into that factory, for the purpose above mentioned.

As the new species of Court Arithmetic has lately made so much noise in the world, we have been favoured with the following toast on that subject:

Addition to his Majesty's loyal subjects!
Subtraction to the Boot and Petticoat!
Multiplication to Mr. Wilkes's friends!
Division to his foes!
Reduction to the national debt!
Prudence to Jack Ketch!

They write from Copenhagen, that several sail of line of battle ships, frigates and bomb ketches are almost ready in that port to put to sea on an expedition of importance, and that several transports with land forces on board will accompany this fleet.

We are informed, that a person of high rank, remarkable for his moderation, when rigorous measures were proposed yesterday in a very respectable private assembly, against certain popular meetings, observed, that he had reason to think the spirit of opposition was nearly evaporated; that the measures then proposed would serve only to keep it alive, as ever has been the case when severity has been used against zealots in politics and religion.

Another great personage observed, that as the principal members of the popular meetings were Gentlemen known to be well-affected to the King, he could not see what great danger could arise from their representation of what they conceive to be the weak or wicked measures of Ministers, some of which, he added, the most rigid Courtier could not justify.

MAY 6. On Wednesday it appeared, at the King's Arms Tavern, Cornhill, that upwards of 1500 Freeholders had signed the intended petition to his Majesty.

It is said that a great cause, wherein a popular Gentleman is plaintiff and a Nobleman defendant, is fixed to be heard next Hilary Term.

This day the Hon. Col. Boyd, appointed Lieutenant Governor of Gibraltar, set out from Queen-street, May-fair, for Gibraltar. The Grand Seigneur lay at the point of death when the last letters were dispatched from Constantinople.

It is positively affirmed, that the East-India Company have lately received, in ready money, to the amount of one million sterling.

There being some expressions in the intended petition of the Freeholders of Middlesex, which have been thought by some persons to be rather too warm, unguarded, and indiscreet; and it being the avowed intention of the petitioners to avoid all just occasion of offence, there was a meeting on Thursday night at Mr. -----'s chambers in Lincoln's-inn, to read over and reconsider the petition, and, if any such passages appeared, to expunge them. Amongst other respectable personages present, were the Right Hon. G----- G-----, and the Right Hon. W----- D-----.

The differences between two principal persons in the cause of Mr. Wilkes, is adjusted.

A certain Duke, it is confidently reported, contested a few days ago to a certain great Personage, that the toils and slanders of the State were too intolerable a weight for him to sustain, and that he was resolved to retire from both the one and the other on the breaking up of the Parliament.

On Tuesday last arrived off Plymouth harbour his Majesty's sloop the Swift, Capt. Reyner, from Falkland's Islands.

Yesterday the Duke of Beaufort was re-installed Grand Master of the Free and Accepted Masons.

Letters from Corfica, of the 8th ult. mention, that Gen. Paoli has given orders for the expeditiously fortifying Isola Rossa, which is the most important post in all the Island.

It is talked that the Ambassador of a certain Continental Power has received an answer of such a nature to a late memorial, that it is expected he will soon withdraw himself from Court.

It is generally thought that the House of Commons will be fuller next Monday than it has been any day this Session; and that the business then to come under their consideration will occasion a very late sitting.

The impartial, upright, and prudent conduct of the present Chief Magistrate of this City on a late critical occasion, has endeared the number of his friends, as he plainly demonstrated himself to be uninfluenced by any party.

MAY 9. On Friday last his Excellency the Russian Ambassador received, by express, the important news of her Imperial Majesty the Czarina's forces having made themselves masters of Azoph.

There is just arrived in London a portrait of the illustrious Chief Paoli, painted for Mr. Boswell of Auchinleck. Mr. Boswell sent for this purpose to Corfica last Summer Mr. Bambridge, a young American Artist, who had finished his studies in Italy, and, amidst all the fatigues and dangers of war, his Excellency was pleased to sit, to indulge the earnest desire of his ever zealous friend. When the picture was brought to Leghorn, all who had seen the General, thought it a striking likeness. The Grand Duke of Tuscany expressed a desire to see it, upon which it was sent to Florence, where it was much admired by the Grand Duke, Dukes, and all the Court. It is a whole length as large as life; the canvass about 7 feet by 5. The Painter has taken great pains, and has finished the face in a very masterly manner.

It is reported that a remonstrance of a singular nature has lately been transmitted here from a Great Power, complaining of the assistance granted by the English to certain Islanders, by which they are enabled to prolong the war.

This day a grand council was held at St. James's, said to be relative to some dispatches received yesterday from Sir Andrew Mitchell, his Majesty's Ambassador at the Court of Berlin. On their breaking up, a messenger was sent off with dispatches for his Prussian Majesty.

They write from Minorca, that orders had just been received from England to have all the garrisons on the island fully completed, and the fortifications immediately put in the best state of defence.

MAY 11. In a debate which came on last Monday, of the last importance to the liberty of these kingdoms, the following gentlemen distinguished themselves by their oratory, viz.

For the petition,--Saville, Dowdeswell, Barré, Burke, Beckford, Townshend, Mawby, Glynn, L. F. Cavendish, and G. Grenville.

Against it,--Jerem. Dylon, Lord North, Sir F. Norton, Fox, Lord Clare, O. Johnson, De Grey, Thurlow, and Jenkinson. These speeches lasted till four o'clock in the morning, when the question whether the election of Col. Luttrell for Knight of the Shire for Middlesex, should be confirmed, being put, there appeared for it 221, against it 152, majority sixty-nine.

The Council on this occasion, we are told, were for the petition, Mr. Serjeant Lee and Mr. Adair. Against the petition, Mr. Serjeant Whitaker and Mr. Graham.

Mr. Serjeant Glynn was ill with the gout; notwithstanding which he attended his duty in the House of Commons till it broke up, and spoke one hour and fifty minutes at one time.

A patriotic gentleman observed on the occasion, that he apprehended the motion was worded wrong, as the question to him seemed to be, whether H. L. L. a military Knight Errant, assisted by ministerial influence, should be declared a member for the county of Middlesex.

Two of the city members only were present, viz. Messieurs Beckford and Trecothick; Sir Robert Ladbroke being at Bath, and Mr. Alderman Harley came away before the division.

So very strict were the orders issued out on the above occasion, that even the gentlemen of the Irish House of Commons were excluded their usual place; a case that has not been known at least during the late session.

Yesterday the Marquis of Rockingham, Earl Temple, Lord Lyttleton, and several other noblemen, dined at the Thatch'd House Tavern, with the 152 members of Parliament, who supported their opinions by their votes, that Lieutenant-Colonel Henry Lawes Luttrell was not duly elected Knight of the Shire for Middlesex.

Yesterday afternoon Capt. Allen was discharged out of Newgate, on account of an end being put to the session of Parliament; the Captain went away in a coach, and several gentlemen of fortune and distinction attended him in their coaches.

It is said, that since the late decision of a great assembly, several members of that body have joined the society at the London Tavern.

This morning some of the principal members of the society for the Support of the Bill of Rights visited Mr. Wilkes at his apartments in the King's-Bench Prison, on important business.

We hear that a refusal has been absolutely given to the Livery of London either to call a common hall, or to grant the use of Guildhall, for the purpose of their intended meeting.

We hear that those gentlemen of the Livery of London, who have already signed the petition to his Majesty on the present situation of affairs, are determined to present it the next Levee-day, whether it is subscribed by the majority of Liverymen or not.

We hear that yesterday Capt. Allen paid a visit to Mr. Wilkes in the King's-Bench Prison.

It is said that a certain Baronet never stirs out alone, or unarmed.

MAY 11. We hear that Mr. Alderman Beckford has signed the Middlesex petition.

This morning an express was sent off from St. James's, for the Court of Berlin.

This morning the Russian Ambassador had a long conference with his Excellency the Earl of Rochfort on the subject of dispatches from his Court.

MAY 16. A morning paper says, the report is now confirmed that the differences between the mother country and our American colonies are at last happily settled and adjusted, to the mutual satisfaction of both the contending parties.

A number of artificers are now out of employment at Birmingham, Manchester and Sheffield, on account of the little demand for their manufactures for American exportation.

MAY 18. Yesterday Mr. Shadwell, a young Gentleman possessed of a place in the Secretary of State's office for the northern department of affairs, set out for Constantinople with dispatches to our Minister there.

Mr. Serjeant Glynn continues much indisposed with the gout, but he has declared that nothing shall prevent his presenting the petition of the Freeholders, and fulfilling every duty he owes to his country and constituents.

Many reports have been propagated (it is supposed to answer some purpose) that the Gentlemen, Supporters of the Bill of Rights, had disagreed, which would end in an immediate dissolution of that respectable Society, but it is now assured, that no dispute of any kind has happened among them, and that the greatest harmony subsists, in proof of which they remain determined to pursue every constitutional method, to redress the grievances of the people.

They write from Corfica that General Paoli had lately made a speech to his partisans, wherein, amongst other things, he said, "I foresee that we have no harvest to hope for this year, and therefore shall take care to provide against the want of it. Grain and biscuit are already arrived; and you may depend, from the assurances I have received, that we shall neither want arms, ammunition, nor money."

The Swift sloop of war, of 14 guns, Capt. Reyner, which is lately arrived at Portsmouth from her voyage round the globe, has been out three years, and so healthy during all that time, that they buried only one marine, and brought home one man sick.

A fine monument of white marble has been erected at Berlin, by order of his Prussian Majesty, to the memory of the late Field Marshal Schwerin, who was slain at the battle of Prague in 1757, when he charged the enemy at the head of his regiment, with the colours in his hand.

On Tuesday the Right Hon. Sir Edward Hawke attended the Admiralty, for the first time since his late indisposition.

The same day the Lords of the admiralty appointed Captain John Reynolds, late of his Majesty's ship Fame, to the command of the St. Antonio Guardship at Portsmouth.

The same day Capt. Hartwell was appointed to the command of his Majesty's ship Glory.

It is said, that notwithstanding the present exultation of the M---n---y, the friends of Liberty will shortly appear with such an eclat as will astonish all Europe, and confound all their enemies.

"There are already above 2000 names to the Middlesex petition--the whole number of Freeholders is about 3000--yet still (says a correspondent) the Majority are against us, if there be any truth in modern Arithmetic."

This being the third year since their appointment, all the squadrons at our different stations abroad, will be relieved this summer, except that at Halifax, commanded by Commodore Hood, whose time is not yet expired; and all the commissioned officers of the guard ships will be superseded as usual at the end of three years. And as the commissioning fresh ships, as was always the case formerly, would be attended with some expence, we hear the same guard ships are to be continued; but that every Officer may have his turn of duty and emolument, that all the Warrant officers of the guard ships will be superseded by others of the same rate from the ships in ordinary.

We hear that this morning an express was sent off from the Secretary of State's office for his Excellency Sir Andrew Mitchell at Berlin, on affairs said to be of great importance.

MAY 20. His Majesty's ship Venus, of which the Duke of Cumberland is commander, is now ready at Portsmouth for the reception of his Royal Highness, who will hoist his flag on board her, and sail for the Mediterranean soon after his Majesty's birthday.

On Tuesday last the Hon. Commodore Byron sailed from Portsmouth in his Majesty's ship Antelope, for his government at Newfoundland.

The great cause depending between Mr. Wilkes and Lord Halifax will be tried next Michaelmas Term.

A gold medal, by order of the Ancient and Hon. Society of Leeches, of the Queen's Arms-Tavern, St. Paul's Church-yard, has been presented to Mr. Alderman Wilkes, a member of that Society. The explanation of the chalice is as follows:

Mr. Wilkes offering himself a victim at the shrine of liberty, who by the arms of England, lying by her, represents Britannia in tears at the sight. Providence pulling him away with one hand, and offering him a crown of laurels with the other. A child denoting posterity, sitting on Magna Charta, bewailing itself, and imploring the protection of Providence. The motto on this medal is "Laetitia et amicitia." On the urn "Libertas."

Letters from Corfica inform, that General Paoli, in an assembly which he held last month, told his countrymen, "That before the month of July next, if they behaved properly, they would probably be their own masters; at the same time advising them to take whatever steps they liked best; but that, for his own part, he was determined to defend his country to the last drop of his blood, in conjunction with 4 or 5000 select friends, whose courage and fidelity he could depend on."

The secular priests of Corfica, who have taken arms, form a corps of 500 men, and the regulars are charged with the defence of their convents.

We hear it is determined by the Ministry, that all the acts relative to taxing America shall be repealed at the opening of the next sessions of Parliament.

By the mails which arrived yesterday we learn, that the Minister who was lately insulted by the populace at Constantinople was M. Brognard, from the Court of Vienna.

Letters from Poland advise, that Prince Gallitzin, at the head of the Russian army, opened the trenches before Choczim on the 5th instant, and that the Turks had retired, after throwing a body of 30,000 men into that fortress.

The Russian resident has been released from the Seven Towers, and is with the Grand Turkish army, which began their march from Constantinople the 30th of April; his retinue are all with him, and he is allowed 275 piastras per day, and a competent number of carriages for his people.

Letters from Amsterdam, dated the 13th instant mention, that Captain Emiliotti, who lately arrived there from the Cape of Good Hope, gives an account of the French having landed a large body of troops in a fine harbour on the South East part of the island of Madagascar, that they had thrown up three redoubts in the same place, and that a great quantity of provisions and implements of husbandry had been embarked at St. Mauritius, for the use of the people at this new settlement.

The French have been said to conquer the English in the Cabinet; they now conquer us in the boarding-school, for by a Gallick education the minds of our youth are so Frenchified, that there is scarce an English sentiment left in the heart.

Letters from Corfica say that Gen. Paoli is little concerned about the additional numbers of troops that France threatens to send to Corfica, as by the situation of the country excessive numbers can neither act effectually, or be supplied with provisions; and that if he should be so happy as to receive the succours promised him from generous British spirits, he fears not the whole power of France.

A letter in one of this morning's papers concludes thus:—"To settle the affairs of America with precision requires all the abilities and attention of the Ministry. To relieve the Americans without hurting either the authority or revenue of the mother country is a task as desirable to the lovers of Great-Britain as it is to the provinces. The plan of this great business, I am with certainty informed, is already settled; and the confusions and distractions which arose from the precipitate conduct of G-----, and the imbecility of R-----, will soon be totally removed by the prudence of the Duke of G-----."

We are informed that great numbers of British Manufacturers are actually preparing to set out for Boston, Philadelphia, and New-York.

MAY 21. A report prevailed on Friday that a change before long would take place in the principal offices in the law department, in consequence of the spirited behaviour of a very learned and ingenious man on a late occasion. It is said, while the above gentleman voted in the interest of the Ministry, no notice was taken of his uncommon abilities, he being numbered without distinction among the rest of their adherents. But since he has vacated his seat and opposed their measures, overtures of a very weighty nature have been made him.

It is said that our M-----, at last, think it best to conquer France in Corfica, as we did last war in Germany; and as a proof of this, all the fleets to the Mediterranean are to carry over proper supplies of money, arms, ammunition, &c.

A certain person having had some overtures of accommodation proposed to him very lately, on condition of relinquishing his claim on a late Secretary, spiritedly replied, "He would never stop his proceedings on any account, as the satisfaction he should receive from obtaining a verdict against a Secretary of State protected by the C-----, would be pleasing to him, even though the jury should not give him but a shilling damage."

The reason of the equipment of a powerful fleet, and the augmentation of the land forces, by Denmark, is not, as has been artfully represented by the tools of France, to join the Swedes against Russia, but to prevent their disturbing the peace of that part of Europe, by attacking Russia, at the instigation of the French; and to prevent such innovations in the form of government as may render it more easy for the French Court to influence the measures of the Swedish administration.

We have authentic accounts that a remonstrance has been delivered from the Court of Denmark, to that of Sweden, importing their intention to act in the most vigorous manner in support of this design; and a Danish squadron is now riding in the road of Copenhagen, ready to weigh anchor at the shortest warning, to intercept the transportation of troops across the gulph of Bothnia, into Finland, through which province they must pass, in order to make any descent upon Livonia, the place alone where Sweden can make any attack upon Russia. But, it is believed, these spirited and steady measures of the Danish Court, to prevent the French from lighting up a flame in the corner of the north, with a view of facilitating the success of the Turks against Russia, and support the Roman Catholic interest in Poland, will put an entire check to that scheme, so injurious to liberty, the protestant cause, and even Christianity itself.

MAY 22. No material changes, we are now assured, will take place in any branch of Administration for some time, as the late complaints of the public instead of dividing its members (which it was thought must unavoidably have been the case) have established them on a more permanent basis, than probably they would otherwise be.

Robert Mar, Esq. is appointed by the Lords of the Admiralty to be Commander in Chief of his Majesty's ships at the Leeward Islands, in the room of Admiral Pyle, who has been there three years: He is to hold his broad pendant on board the Montagu.

Yesterday at one o'clock the petition of the Freeholders of Middlesex, representing the grievances the nation labours under from the unconstitutional measures pursued by certain persons, and their apprehension of suffering more, unless redress be granted them, was presented to his Majesty at St. James's, by Mr. Serjeant Glynn, the Rev. Dr. Willson, Mr. Sawbridge, Mr. Townsend, Mr. Bellas, Mr. Ellis, and Mr. Askew; which, we hear, his Majesty was pleased to receive in a very condescending manner, expressed his satisfaction at their having brought it in so private and quiet a way as to avoid the least tumult; and assured them that he would refer it to the consideration of the Parliament, as soon as they shall meet for the dispatch of business.

The petition (signed by 1500 Freeholders) was delivered into his Majesty's hand by Mr. Serjeant Glynn, kneeling; after which, he and all the rest of the above gentlemen had the honour to kiss his Majesty's hand.

Yesterday dispatches were received at St. James's, brought by the Hampden packet-boat, from his Excellency William Henry Lyttleton, his Majesty's Ambassador at the Court of Portugal.

Yesterday arrived at the Office of Admiralty, Charing Cross, separate expresses from the Commanders in Chief of his Majesty's Windward and Leeward Island squadrons in the West-Indies.

It is said that Mr. Serjeant Glynn will move the Court of Common Pleas to-morrow, in the grand cause between John Wilkes and the Earl of Halifax.

The following note was a few days since sent by a Publican to a certain Nobleman.

"My Lord, When I gave you my vote for your place in the S-----, I imagined you to be a man of more honour than to be so often applied to for an Alehouse debt, of 11. 1s. 4d."

The Humble ADDRESS of his Majesty's Council.

May it please your Excellency,

WE his Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Council of this Province, for Answer to your Lordship's Speech of the 22d Instant, to both Houses of Assembly, beg Leave to assure your Lordship that the Fate of the Circuit-Court Bill gives us great Concern.

We are truly sorry that the State of your Lordship's Health requires your Departure from the Province, and we most sincerely wish a speedy Re-establishment thereof; permit us at the same Time, my Lord, to express the grateful Sense we entertain of your Lordship's disinterested, upright and mild Administration; and as the Government devolves in Course upon a Gentleman, whose Abilities and Zeal for the Interest of the Province, we have often happily experienced, so we make no Doubt, but its Prosperity and Welfare, will engage his most serious Attention and Regard.

Permit us to return our Thanks to your Lordship, for your kind Tenders of Service for the Benefit of this Province, during your Residence at Home; and as you are pleased to offer your Service with Freedom, we assure ourselves that your Endeavours will be exerted, as Occasion may require, with becoming Fervour.

By Order of the House, OTHNIEL BEALE.

In the Upper-House of Assembly, the 25th July, 1769.

To which his Lordship was pleased to return the following Answer.

Honourable Gentlemen, I return you my hearty Thanks for your Address; and am happy to find you approve of my Endeavours to promote his Majesty's Service, and the Interest of the Province, during the Course of my Administration.

25th July, 1769. CHARLES-GREVILLE MONTAGU.

To his Excellency the Right Honourable Lord CHARLES-GREVILLE MONTAGU, Captain-General, Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over his Majesty's Province of South-Carolina.

The Humble ADDRESS of the Commons House of Assembly of the said Province.

May it please your Excellency,

WE his Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons House of Assembly of this Province, beg Leave to express our great Concern for the bad State of Health your Excellency hath been under for some Time past, and for the Intimation you are pleased to give us, of the Necessity you find yourself under of embarking for Great-Britain on that Account.

Your Excellency's Appointment to this Government, and Arrival in the Province, gave us the highest Satisfaction; nor can we enough express our grateful Acknowledgements for the generous Regard your Excellency hath, on all Occasions, desired to shew for the Welfare and Prosperity of this Province, of which we intreat your Excellency to believe we shall ever hold the most honourable Remembrance.

We beg Leave particularly to return your Excellency our most unfeigned Thanks, for the kind Assurance of your Endeavours to render any Service or Benefit to this Province, during your Residence at Home, in which we place the highest Confidence, not doubting it will tend to what we most ardently wish for, a good Understanding, and lasting happy Intercourse upon the Principles of Justice and Constitutional Liberty, between the Mother Country and all his Majesty's Subjects in America.

We do most cordially wish your Excellency, Lady and Family, an agreeable Voyage, and that the inestimable Blessing of Health, and every other Happiness, may be your constant Attendants: And suffer us to hope, that when the End of your Absence, the Re-establishment of your Health, is attained, we may again have the Pleasure of your Excellency's Residence amongst us, in that high Station wherein you have already given such general Satisfaction.

By Order of the House, PETER MANIGAULT, Speaker.

29th July, 1769.

To which his Lordship was pleased to give the following Answer.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen, I return you my most sincere Thanks for your very affectionate Address; the Terms in which you have been pleased to signify your Approbation of my well meant Endeavours to discharge my Duty as Governor of this Province, are too flattering not to be highly agreeable.

The kind Wishes you express for me and my Family, I shall retain the most grateful Remembrance of: To promote the true Happiness and Prosperity of this Province, has been my most ardent Wish, and every Measure that tends to its real Interest, I will endeavour steadily to pursue.

29th July, 1769. CHARLES-GREVILLE MONTAGU.

The same Day his Majesty's Packet-Boat the Sandwich, Capt. Samuel Ayres, arrived here in Nine Weeks from Falmouth.

From Wilmington, in North-Carolina, we learn, that about Three Weeks ago, Mr. ANDREW STEUART, Printer of that Place, went to wash himself in the River, and jumping from a high Place, it is supposed he received some hurt, which occasioned his being unhappily drowned.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in England to his Friend in this Town, dated May 25, 1769.

"The House of Commons was prorogued the 9th Instant, and what is very astonishing, without having taken under Consideration or paid any Regard to the many Grievances so justly complained of from the different Colonies, tho' the Advocates of the present Ministry in general allow that they are convinced of the Impropriety of the Revenue Acts, &c. and that it is their Intention to have them repealed the next Sessions of Parliament, (November or December) on which you are sensible there cannot be any Dependence; I therefore hope the Provinces will persevere in their Resolution of reducing their Importation of Goods, as the surest Means of stirring up the different Manufacturers, &c. to their Interest, so as to make it a common Cause.---Indeed little is to be expected from the present corrupt and dissipated Ministry, who seem regardless of every Thing but aggrandizing themselves, at the Expence and Ruin of their Country, tho' their Conduct is daily severely lashed in the Papers by several masterly Hands, particularly JUNIUS, (said to be L-d G-----) who is in general allowed to be the best anonymous Writer that has appeared for some Time; you'll see many of his Performances in the Papers I have lately, and by this Opportunity sent you, and also the unhappy Tumult this Kingdom has been in for some Time, the People here complaining of Violations of their Liberties, and other Grievances, as much as those on your Side the Water, and what is very mortifying, with as little Prospect of Redress.---Those at the Helm, by their numerous Tools and Dependants, carrying every Thing before them; the last Point they gained in the House of Commons, relative to the Middlesex Election, in establishing Colonel Luttrell as a Member for that County, has given a more general Alarm than any Thing that has happened since the Revolution, and indeed with great Reason, as by that Determination, it Matters not whether any Court Sycophant, that they have a Mind to prefer, has a Majority or not, as they will always find a Plea to fix him in the House. Conscious of this Stretch of Power, and fearing the Resentment of the Nation, they drew many Regiments from the Interior Parts of the Kingdom to the Environs of London, that they might be ready on the least Appearance of Danger, to suppress any Riots, &c."

A PROCLAMATION.

HEREAS his Excellency the Right Honourable Lord CHARLES-GREVILLE MONTAGU, Captain-General, Governor and Commander in Chief, in and over this Province, did Yesterday depart from hence, in order to proceed to Great-Britain for the Recovery of his Health; and by the Government of this Province hath devolved upon me; I THEREFORE have thought fit, by the Advice of his Majesty's Council, to issue this my PROCLAMATION, to notify the same. And it is my Will and Pleasure, that all Officers, as well Civil as Military, do continue in their respective Offices, till further Order.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS,

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE repeated Encouragement, Countenance and Protection the AMERICAN THEATRE has met with here, from an audience one of the most respectable on the Continent, is universally known, and has deeply imprinted the Sentiments of gratitude in the Breasts of the American Company of Comedians in Consequence of which, Mr. Douglass, Manager of that Company, sent me here from New-York, to build an elegant Theatre, fit for the Accommodation of so numerous and te an Audience as formerly honoured this Stage with their patronage—on these Principles (with a strict Charge to the Manager of the Decorations, on which neither Pains or Cost to have been spared) I set out for this Metropolis, but on Arrival, was very much disappointed to find the Colony in the present disagreeable (though glorious) Struggle; I light it my Duty to enquire of our former Patrons their opinion with regard to erecting a Theatre at this juncture, but that till those unhappy Differences were subdued, it would be disagreeable to the Majority of the Inhabitants. Under these Circumstances, it would be doing the highest Injustice to the worthy and respectable Public, as well as to our private Principles of Gratitude, for the innumerable Favours they have here, to have the most distant Thought of what was meant but as a grateful Proof of our constant Endeavours to entertain in the most elegant Manner so generous and judicious an Audience—therefore, without the least Hesitation, (in Compliance to the general Desire) I declined it till a more favourable Opportunity.

The Ladies and Gentlemen of this Town have always been particularly conspicuous in their Taste for every kind of Amusement, as for their Encouragement of the polite Arts in general, among which the Theatre has always claimed, and as constantly received, their generous Protection; and I am fully convinced, did not Matters of the utmost Importance, merit their highest Attention at this critical juncture, it would not fail of that Patronage it has been hitherto honoured with.

I shall beg leave to observe before I conclude, that from the most sincere Gratitude, and to endeavour at meriting the Favour so generously bestowed on the Theatre, the Manager has been at no small considerable Expence in every Decoration belonging to it, to render it complete for the Purpose, amounting to some Thousands of Pounds; and it is to be hoped, as soon as every political Animosity that Concerns the Welfare of this valuable Colony is settled to general Satisfaction, that under such generous and respectable Patrons, like every other of the polite Arts, the Theatre may not exceed, if equal the AMERICAN STAGE.

I have the Honour to be, with the utmost Respect and Difference, the Public's Most devoted and very humble Servant.
